

The "SCARY 13"

John Newquist, former OSHA area director in Peoria, IL, and an agency employee from 1983 to 2012, identified the following records/documents - what he calls the "Scary 13" - employers often can't produce during an OSHA inspection:

	Records/Documents	Can you produce it?
1.	Lockout/tagout authorized employee training	Yes	No
2.	A current list of chemicals used at the facility	Yes	No
3.	Temporary employees' OSHA form 301 or state workers' compensation report of injury	Yes	No
4.	Training records for electrical safety-related work practices	Yes	No
5.	Annual respirator training	Yes	No
6.	Lockout/tagout audits (periodic inspections)	Yes	No
7.	Personal protective equipment (PPE) training	Yes	No
8.	Noise exposure training	Yes	No
9.	Bloodborne pathogens training	Yes	No
10.	Confined spaces - non-permit certification	Yes	No
11.	Forklift recertification	Yes	No
12.	Written PPE hazard assessment with certification	Yes	No
13.	Hazard communication training for all employees with current chemicals	Yes	No

Source: Safety+Health | June 2019

Courtesy of: Bob Heater, CSP - Safety 4U, LLC